

Cmovies Thor 4 Is Going to Have Some Big Differences to Ragnarok

Thor, the God of thunder, had very absurd screen time in Avengers: Endgame. The character was given an unexpected twist in the end when he forms his Asgardians of the galaxy. Thor franchise is going to go through various changes. The character is the strongest founding Avenger, but he was downgraded a little in Avengers: Endgame at Cmovies.

The future of this franchise is extremely uncertain, even though we got to see that our beloved God is still worthy, he is not going to rule his “kingdom” which he formed on earth, and at the end of INFINITY SAGA, we were told that Valkyrie is the queen of Asgard. The decision made by Thor opened a gate for infinite possibility, and the joining of Thor Cmovies with guardians of the galaxy made it seem like he’s got something in his mind and the son of Odin doesn’t make irrational decisions excluding his turning into an alcoholic. With the end of infinity saga, Marvel is sure to bring a lot of changes in the franchise for ex spider man carrying iron man's legacy and falcon doing the same for Captain America while they have big shoes to fill some characters will be introduced newly like sheng-chi. Valkyrie since Thor Ragnarok is portrayed as a leader and one who can take responsibility for other people. The Thor franchise has a lot of work to do as endgame didn't precisely end everything it started a whole new arc.

The things which the Avengers did in the past to get the infinity stone has possibly created a hole in the fabric of reality. Especially when Loki stole the Tesseract, and this means Loki is still alive BUT as a villain and if this is true then that means Thanos isn't dead either and if they break into the current timeline and snap the fingers there may even be two Thanos and double of Thanos's army which is literally the contradiction of Thanos's ideology. In thor Ragnarök Asgard was destroyed and as guardians settled on mudguard which is earth. After going through all this trouble to follow the prophecy which was mentioned in thor Ragnarök, there is some rational reasoning for him joining guardians of the galaxy. His being in guardians of the galaxy may even be temporary and he might come back to earth, or he might be forced to go back to earth. Whatever, Marvel has in mind for this franchise it's going to be completely different, unique and fantastic. Thor has the biggest potential for moving avengers forward, and we all know that captain marvel may be the strongest, but Thor is an emotion. His overpowering strength and badass weapon might be back in Thor 4 or may be Guardians of Galaxy 3 Cmovies which is already confirmed by Marvel. No matter which road marvel goes down its going to be amazing.