Argumentative Essay Writing Tips with Topics for high school

How to write an argumentative essay?

An argumentative essay is a piece of writing in which the essay writer takes a stance on a specific topic or issue. The main purpose of such an essay is to persuade the reader by providing evidence and support for your stance on the issue. An example of this could be that if I believe the act of abortion should be declared illegal I would try to persuade the audience by supporting my stance with appropriate evidence. Also in the modern world, we have seen that many people think social media is harmful to teenagers. This is one of the argumentative essay topics on which students can easily take a particular stance and provide evidence for their opinion. An argumentative essay is usually written by students from school and college levels. They need to understand the purpose of writing this type of essay and follow the format to write a quality essay for the audience and can get Dissertation Writing Services

Below you can find the format of an argumentative essay. You can also get online 'write my paper' help if not sure about the proper essay format.

The format of most of the types of essays is similar but the content that should be included in each one of them varies. Some important tips which I follow when I write my essay are mentioned below:

Introduction

This is the first section of an essay. The writer should include all the basic information related to the topic in this part of the essay. The background and facts regarding the essay are also to be mentioned in the introduction section. The last sentence of the introduction is known as the thesis statement. The writer should write their main argument in the thesis statement and the coming section will be dependent on your thesis statement. The stance that the writer is taking in the argumentative essays should be clearly stated in the thesis statement and can have thesis writing service

Body paragraphs

In this part of the essay, the writer has to present all their arguments in front of the reader. This section also provides support and evidence for the stance that the writer has taken in the argumentative essay. Another important tip for all students regarding the body paragraphs is that they should also mention those arguments that have solid evidence so that the reader can be convinced by the writer.

Conclusion

This is the last section of every essay in which the writer has to give the concluding remarks. Along with this, the writer should also mention the main arguments of the essay briefly and then provide their opinion about the topic which has been discussed and get to know about custom essay

Argumentative essays are usually assigned to students of schools and colleges. The main purpose of this essay is to see how convincing the student could be. This essay also allows you to give your logical opinion and support that with evidence. The instructors judge the convincing power of the student by checking the type of vocabulary and sentence structure used in the essays. That is why students should try to use appropriate and good vocabulary in their essays and avoid adding illogical arguments.

Argumentative essay topics that are common in high school?

Argumentative essays usually require a certain stance that needs to be taken by the writer. Some common topics on which argumentative essays are written include:

· Third world war could be prevented by the governments of the USA and Russia.

· Same-sex marriages should be restricted in the society

· Higher education should be free for all.

· Parents should keep a check on the social media activity of their students.

An online paper writing service has made it easier to write a perfect essay. This trend has reduced the academic burden on students and has also increased the quality of essays around the world.

Other Useful Resources :

Best Basics about College Essay Formats and Their Citation Styles

General Essay Writing Mistakes and How to Avoid Them

Most ideal Way for Writing a Bio (With Examples)